5) The EEOC makes a finding of "cause" OR. The EEOC makes a finding of "no cause" to believe that there was discrimination. Within fourteen days of the "no cause" finding, you can request a review of the determination. If the EEOC affirms the "no cause" finding, it will issue a "right to sue" letter.

Physical causes –

Tangible, material items failed in some way (for example, a car's brakes stopped working).

Human causes – People did something wrong, or did not do something that was needed. Human causes typically lead to physical causes (for example, no one filled the brake fluid, which led to the brakes
